

Tim Ammon, GM, Passenger Services, Zonar Systems

Tim leads strategic growth for Zonar in the pupil and transit fleet management markets. And he does so with deep expertise in student safety protocols, cost management, risk management, organizational design and technology use. He joins us after founding and working at multiple transportation management and advisory firms, along with working for a large transportation provider.

With more than 20 years in transportation operations and fleet maintenance analysis experience, Tim worked closely with hundreds of public, private and non-profit transportation management operations as a consultant, educator, practitioner and supporter. To help educational institutions and transportation providers with return-to-school plans, Tim made frequent virtual appearances during the early days of the COVID-19 pandemic as: co-manager of the Student Transportation Aligned for Return To School Task Force; the National Association of State Directors of Pupil Transportation Services; and the National School Transportation Association.
