

Tom Platt: The Center for Effective School Operations

Tom joined CESO in 2021 after working for the last 25 years as a leader in the student transportation industry. Over his consulting career he has advised hundreds of school districts and education agencies in more than 30 states and three Canadian provinces.

Tom's experience includes an extensive background as an analyst and transportation consultant, for later bell time initiatives. Tom's focus for CESO is now on managing consulting engagements of all sizes, leading and mentoring our project staff, and helping our clients manage complex change. Tom holds a Master of Business Administration (MBA) from the Whitman School of Management at Syracuse University with concentrations in Logistics and Operations Management, and a Bachelor of Science from the Maine Maritime Academy with a major in Marine Transportation.
